In Switzerland, these financial instruments are considered structured products. The investors bear the Issuer's credit risk.

Product Description

With Call Sprinter Warrants the investor sets upon increasing prices of the Underlying. They allow for overproportionate (leveraged) participation in each performance of the Underlying. Accordingly, they can be used for speculation or hedging purposes. Sprinter Warrants have a Knock-Out Barrier which is identical to the Strike Price. Strike Price as well as Knock-Out Barrier are adjusted daily. These Sprinter Warrants do not have a fixed maturity (open end), but they may be exercised as from the First Exercise Date (american option). If the price of the Underlying reaches or falls below this barrier during the Observation Period (Knock-Out Event), the Call Sprinter Warrants expire worthless immediately. If no Knock-Out Event occurred, the investor receives a Repayment Amount after five Bank Business Days in case of effective exercise (or in case of termination by the Issuer) which - taking into account the Ratio - corresponds to the amount by which the Relevant Valuation Price exceeds the Strike Price on the Exercise Date.

Prospects of Profit and Losses

Call Sprinter Open End Warrants provide the opportunity to benefit in a leveraged way from a positive performance of the underlying. The potential profit is, as a general rule, unlimited.

Price changes of the underlying may have an overproportionate impact on the value of the product due to the leverage effect. There is a possible profit from the positive difference between the sales price achieved or repayment amount and the issue or purchase price paid. The settlement amount depends on the amount by which the valuation price of the underlying exceeds the exercise price on the relevant exercise date. Call Sprinter Open End Warrants do not yield current income. As a rule, they lose value if there is no price increase in the underlying.

Sprinter Open End Warrants have no set maturity but expire worthless with immediate effect if the knock-out barrier is touched. The actual knock-out level is identical to the actual strike price. The strike price is adjusted daily to the market and depends on the previous strike price and financing spread, among other factors. In this regard, the financing spread matches the financing costs of the issuer through the interest on deposits. The risk for an investment in Sprinter Open Ends is based not only on the leverage effect but also on the risk of a knock-out event occurring, which is significantly greater than it would be for a direct investment. On the basis of the daily market adjustment of the strike price, a knock-out event may also occur in the case of a previously unchanged market price of the underlying, thus resulting in expiration without any value.

Significant Risks for Investors

Currency risks

If the Underlying or Underlyings is/are denominated in a currency other than the product's Reference Currency, investors should bear in mind that this may involve risks due to fluctuating exchange rates and that the risk of loss does not only depend on the performance of the Underlying(s) but also on any unfavourable performance of the other currency or currencies. This does not apply for currency-hedged products (quanto structure).

Market risks

The general market performance of securities is dependent in particular on the development of the capital markets which, for their part, are influenced by the general global economic situation as well as by the economic and political framework conditions in the respective countries (so-called market risk). Changes to market prices such as interest rates, commodity prices or corresponding volatilities may have a negative effect on the valuation of the Underlying(s) or the Structured Product.

Disruption risks

There is also the risk of market disruptions (such as trading or stock market interruptions or discontinuation of trading) or other unforeseeable occurrences concerning the respective Underlyings and/or their stock exchanges or markets taking place during the term or upon maturity of the Structured Products. Such occurrences can have an effect on the time of redemption and/or on the value of the Structured Products.

In the event of trading restrictions, sanctions and similar occurrences, the Issuer is entitled, for the purpose of calculating the value of the Structured Product, to include at its own discretion the Underlying instruments at their most recently traded price, at a fair value to be established at its sole discretion or indeed as worthless, and/or additionally to suspend pricing in the Structured Product or liquidate the Structured Product prematurely.

Secondary market risks

Under normal market conditions, the Issuer or the Lead Manager intend to post bid- and ask-prices on a regular basis. However, neither the Issuer nor the Lead Manager is under any obligation with respect to investors to provide such bid- and ask-prices for specific order or securities volumes, and there is no guarantee of a specific liquidity or of a specific spread (i.e. the difference between bid- and ask-prices), for which reason investors cannot rely on being able to purchase or sell the Structured Products on a specific date or at a specific price.

Issuer risk

The value of Structured Products may depend not only on the performance of the Underlying(s), but also on the creditworthiness of the Issuer, which may change during the term of the Structured Product. The investor is exposed to the risk of default of the Issuer. For further information on the rating of Bank Vontobel AG, please see the Issuance Program.

Risks relating to potential conflicts of interest

There may be conflicts of interest at the Vontobel Group companies that could have a negative impact on the value of the Structured Products. For example, Vontobel Group companies may enter into or participate in trading and hedging transactions relating to the Underlying. They may also perform other functions relating to the Structured Products (e.g. as Calculation Agent, Index Sponsor and/or Market Maker) which enable them to determine the composition of the Underlying or calculate its value. Vontobel Group companies may also receive non-public information relating to the Underlying. It should also be noted that the payment of distribution fees and other commissions to financial intermediaries could result in conflicts of interest to the detriment of the investor, as this could create an incentive for the financial intermediary to distribute products with a higher commission preferentially to its clients. As market maker, Vontobel Group companies can determine the price of Structured Products themselves to a large extent and determine it on the basis of various factors and earnings considerations.

Please also note the further, detailed description of potential conflicts of interest and their impact on the value of the Structured Products as contained in the Issuance Program.
