Product Description

With Call Warrants the investor sets upon increasing prices of the Underlying. They allow for overproportionate (leveraged) participation in each performance of the Underlying. Accordingly, they can be used for speculation or hedging purposes. These Warrants can be exercised during the Exercise Period (american option). If the investor does not exercise them, the Warrants are exercised automatically at the end of the Exercise Period. In case of effective exercise the investor receives a Repayment Amount after five Bank Business Days, if on the Exercise Date the Relevant Valuation Price is above the Strike Price. The Repayment Amount corresponds to - taking into account the Ratio - the amount by which the Relevant Valuation Price exceeds the Exercise Price on the Exercise Date. Otherwise, no payment will be made and the Warrant expires worthless.

Prospects of Profit and Losses

Call Warrants provide the opportunity to benefit in a leveraged way from a positive performance of the underlying. The potential profit is, as a general rule, unlimited.

Price changes of the underlying may have an overproportionate impact on the value of the product due to the leverage effect. The settlement amount depends on the amount by which the valuation price of the underlying exceeds the exercise price on the relevant exercise date. Call Warrants do not yield current income. As a rule, they lose value if there is no price increase in the underlying.

At the end of the term, warrants expire worthless if they are not in the money, i.e. in this event the investor incurs a total loss of the capital he has invested.

Significant Risks for Investors

Currency risks

If the Underlying or Underlyings is/are denominated in a currency other than the product's Reference Currency, investors should bear in mind that this may involve risks due to fluctuating exchange rates and that the risk of loss does not only depend on the performance of the Underlying(s) but also on any unfavourable performance of the other currency or currencies. This does not apply for currency-hedged products (quanto structure).

Market risks

The general market performance of Securities is dependent in particular on the development of the capital markets which, for their part, are influenced by the general global economic situation as well as by the economic and political framework conditions in the respective countries (so-called market risk). Changes to market prices such as interest rates, commodity prices or corresponding volatilities may have a negative effect on the valuation of the Underlying(s) or the product.

Disruption risks

There is also the risk of market disruptions (such as trading or stock market interruptions or discontinuation of trading) or other unforeseeable occurrences concerning the respective Underlyings and/or their stock exchanges or markets taking place during the term or upon maturity of the products. Such occurrences can have an effect on the time of redemption and/or on the value of the products.

In the event of trading restrictions, sanctions and similar occurrences, the Issuer is entitled, for the purpose of calculating the value of the product, to include at its own discretion the Underlying instruments at their most recently traded price, at a fair value to be established at its sole discretion or indeed as worthless, and/or additionally to suspend pricing in the product or liquidate the product prematurely.

Secondary market risks

Under normal market conditions, the Issuer or the Lead Manager intend to post bid- and ask-prices on a regular basis. However, neither the Issuer nor the Lead Manager is under any obligation with respect to investors to provide such bid- and ask-prices for specific order or securities volumes, and there is no guarantee of a specific liquidity or of a specific spread (i.e. the difference between bid- and ask-prices), for which reason investors cannot rely on being able to purchase or sell the products on a specific date or at a specific price.

Issuer risk

The value of Structured Products may depend not only on the performance of the Underlying(s), but also on the creditworthiness of the Issuer, which may change during the term of the Structured Product. The investor is exposed to the risk of default of the Issuer. For further information on the rating of Bank Vontobel AG, please see the Base Prospectus.

Risks relating to potential conflicts of interest

There may be conflicts of interest at the Vontobel Group companies that could have a negative impact on the value of the Structured Products. For example, Vontobel Group companies may enter into or participate in trading and hedging transactions relating to the Underlying. They may also perform other functions relating to the Structured Products (e.g. as Calculation Agent, Index Sponsor and/or Market Maker) which enable them to determine the composition of the Underlying or calculate its value. Vontobel Group companies may also receive non-public information relating to the Underlying. It should also be noted that the payment of distribution fees and other commissions to financial intermediaries could result in conflicts of interest to the detriment of the investor, as this could create an incentive for the financial intermediary to distribute products with a higher commission preferentially to its clients. As market maker, Vontobel Group companies can determine the price of Structured Products themselves to a large extent and determine it on the basis of various factors and earnings considerations.

Please also note the further, detailed description of potential conflicts of interest and their impact on the value of the Structured Products as contained in the Base Prospectus.

provided that no such offer of Securities shall require the Issuer or Lead Manager to publish a prospectus pursuant to Article 3 of the Prospectus Regulation.

For the purposes of the provision above, the expression an "offer of securities to the public" in relation to any securities in any Member State means the communication in any form and by means of sufficient information on the terms of the offer and the securities to be offered so as to enable an investor to decide to purchase or subscribe for the securities, and the expression "Prospectus Regulation" means Regulation (EU) 2017/

- (b) it has only communicated or caused to be communicated and will only communicate or cause to be communicated an invitation or inducement to engage in investment activity (within the meaning of section 21 of the FSMA) received by it in connection with the issue or sale of any products in circumstances in which section 21(1) of the FSMA does not apply to the Issuer or the Guarantor (if any); and
- (c) it has complied and will comply with all applicable provisions of the FSMA with respect to anything done by it in relation to any products in, from or otherwise involving the United Kingdom.
